

Swap-Free Trading Account Agreement

1. The present Agreement governs the terms of Swap-Free trading accounts use and comes into force when the Client's trading account gets the Swap-Free status. The Client declares to have read, understood and accepted the Agreement.
2. The Agreement should be deemed as supplementary agreement to the main Terms and Conditions concluded between the Company and the Client. It is part of the legal documentation of the Company reflecting the procedure for providing Swap-Free service.
3. The Swap-Free status can be either activated at the account registering stage (by the Client's choosing the appropriate swap-free option); or through the Client's enabling the Swap-free option in the Client's cabinet; or by sending an application to the Customer Relations department. The Company reserves the right to refuse the provision of Swap-free account status without explaining the reason.
4. The Swap-Free option can be either deactivated by the Client in the Client's cabinet (by clicking on the corresponding option) or by contacting the Customer Relations department.
5. The Client agrees that in case the Company suspects any kind of abuse or violation or other forms of fraudulent activity on the Client's behalf, especially taking the advantage of swaps accumulated due to exploiting the Swap-Free status, the Company at its sole discretion reserves the right to cancel the Swap-Free status and/or deduct the fees equivalent to the swap amount not accrued within the Swap-Free period of trading.
6. The Company may at any time at its sole discretion change the Swap-Free provision terms and make Swap-Free trading subject to payment of fees in the amount defined by the Company.
7. The Agreement shall be deemed as terminated upon the Swap-Free status cancellation.
